NOTICE TO PRACTITIONERS

New Subscription Service

The Court has upgraded its website to include an email subscription service. The subscription service will allow practitioners and others interested in the work of the District Court to receive email updates about the daily cause list, new judgments posted to the website and news releases issued by the Court. The Court's practice is to issue a notice to practitioners – which appears in the news list – whenever it updates any of its Practice Notes or Circulars to Practitioners.

The subscription service can be accessed from the home page of the website, under the link "Subscribe" in the top left hand corner.

Practitioners who have previously provided the Court with an email address to receive information from the Court have been automatically migrated to the subscription service.

The Court will now discontinue its practice of providing email advice of updated material on its website.
